MBTI® Application Workshop

TYPE AND MENTORING MILLENNIALS

"The single biggest problem in communication is the illusion that it has taken place." – Gandhi

Born between 1980-2000, they are your students, your clients, your direct reports: the high maintenance-high performance Millennials. Like every generation before them, they bring unique characteristics to our schools, colleges, and places of work. Shaped by parent advocacy, they are filled with high potential and high expectations. They are confident, hopeful, collaborative, achievement-oriented, and they want IT now. The challenge? They don't know what IT is!

Our 2010 advanced MBTI® Workshop (an annual event!) focuses on the type development challenges of the Millennial Generation – how their type-related strengths and liabilities impact:

- How we teach
- How we counsel/coach
- How we manage and supervise

PRESENTERS

- Judith Grutter, M.S., NCC, MCC, MBTI Master Practitioner. Judi is a recognized authority on the uses of assessment in career counseling, and is the co-author of the combined Strong and MBTI® Career Report. She has authored numerous publications on type and career development, and has been a type practitioner and trainer for 40+ years.
- Jamie Johnson, M.S., NCC, MCC, MBTI Master Practitioner. Jamie is Sr. Associate Director of the James W. Stuckert Career Center at the University of Kentucky. She is an expert on generational differences and is an experienced type practitioner, conference presenter, and organizational consultant on generational differences.
